

LEEROY JASON – #FeesMustFall Series

Lee-Roy Jason is a South African photographer and avid traveler based in Johannesburg, with a natural instinct for visually telling and artistically documenting (South) African stories. His #FeesMustFall series documents the recent student upheaval at the University of the Witwatersrand, Johannesburg.

ATHI-PATRA RUGA – The Night of the Long Knives I

BONGUMENZI NGCOBO – (I)

MAJOR NDLOVU –
Mr OfficerLIZETTE CHIRRIME – Layers of my Soul

Lizette Chirime was born and grew up in Maputo, Mozambique, where African printed fabric is pervasive. She combines textiles and found objects in her symbolic abstract works, which draw inspiration from her journeys and dreams. She recently held her first solo exhibition in Cape Town, in addition to exhibiting at the 1:54 African Art Fair in London and the 2017 Cape Town Art Fair. "Dress Code" at Gallery Momo in Cape Town in June 2017 was a significant step in her artistic career. She has also been selected, among seven other young artists, for the Art Africa Fair's inaugural Bright Young Things (BYT) award and residency. According to the organisers, "these artists represent the most promising and talented of their generation. They're committed and they are all headed to play a significant role in today's society."

AMITA MAKAN –
Giant Orange PincushionLERKA DETAIL –
Pattern Koif

KARLA NIXON (Detail)

